JUDGE TERRY KILLED.

Shot Through the Heart by Deputy U. S. Marshal Nagel.

Terry Slaps Justice Field and the Killing Follows.

Scene of Excitement in a Railroad Depot Lunch Room.

The Sudden End of a Notorious and Unsavory Career.

A Noted Killing.

LATHROP, Cala., August 14.—Upon the arrival of the Southern overland train here at 7 20 a. m., United States Supreme Judge Stephen J. Field and Deputy Marshal David Nagel walked into the depot dining room for breakfast and sat down side by side. Soon after Judge David Terry and wife came in also. They proceeded to another table. Mrs. Terry evidently recognizing Justice Field, did not sit down but retired to the train for some unknown purpose. Before reaching it, however, and as soon as she had left the dining room Judge Terry approached Justice Field, and stooping over him, gently slapped his face once. At this juncture Deputy Marshal Nagel arose from his seat and shot Judge Terry, apparently through the heart. As he was falling the deputy marshal shot again, but missed him, the bullet going through the floor. Both shots were fired in very quick succession.

Judge Terry had hardly fallen when Mrs. Terry rushed to the side of his body and threw herself upon it. Then ensued a scene of the wildest excitement. People rushed from the dining room and others rushed in. During this time Justice Field and Deputy Nagel retreated to a sleeping car. Before the train pulled out, Constable Walker entered the sleeper and was carried away on board the train. He informed the spectators that he knew his duty and would perform it. During the time the train was standing at the depot Mrs. Terry was running wildly alternately from the body of her husband to the sleeper, demanding admittance that she might slap Justice Field's face, and at the same time begging that they be detained and have their examination here. Previous to the entrance of Constable Walker into the sleeper, Sheriff Purvis and a party of Stockton county had taken charge of Deputy United States Marshal Nagel, but afterward released him.

After the shooting Nagel backed against the wall of the dining room and warned every one not to arrest him, saying he was a United States officer in discharge of his duty. There was no talk of an attempt to molest him at any time.

Constable Walker took Deputy Nagel from the train at Tracy and proceeded with him to Stockton, where he now is in jail. United States Attorney White ordered the arrest of Justice Field upon his arrival in San Francisco. Chief of Police Crowley received a dispatch from Sheriff Cunningham, of Stockton, to arrest Judge Field and Deputy Marshal Nagel on the arrival of the train at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—The news of the shooting of Judge Terry at Lathrop caused intense excitement here. Mrs. Terry was formerly Sarah Althea Hill, who through long litigation claimed to be the wife of ex Senator Sharon. Terry was her attorney. Judge Field decided she was not Sharon's wife, and Sarah thereupon cursed Field in the open court as a contempt. Field ordered her removed from the court, when Terry drew a knife in her defense, and both were then sent to jail for six months for contempt of court. This was in September last, and to day was Terry's first meeting with Field since. That there would be a killing when they met was generally believed, owing to Terry's record. He came to California in '49. In '53 he was a member of the vigilance committee, and came near being strung up. In '59 he killed Senator Broderick as the result of political difficulty.

Judge Field was seen by an Associated Press reporter on his arrival here at noon. He said for the last two months all sorts of reports have reached him that Judge Terry had threatened to subject him to some form of indignity should he meet him. This fact caused the United States marshal to decide to provide such protection as he could during Justice Field's stay in the city. "At the Lathrop eating house this morning," said Justice Field, "I took a seat at the end of a table while Nagel sat at one side of me. Terry and his wife came in soon after. As soon as Mrs. Terry saw me she went out of the room, as I afterwards learned, returning to the car for her satchel. Judge Terry arose and I supposed he intended to accompany her. Instead of doing so he walked back of me and struck me a heavy slap in the face. I was completely astonished. As he was making ready to strike again Deputy Marshal Nagel cried 'stop,' stop,' and as he was raising his arm the second time Nagel shot him, the bullet entering his heart and that is all I know of the matter."

Protection was accorded Justice Field, it is claimed, by the authority of Attorney General Miller, who instructed the marshal of the district to see that the persons of Justice Field and Circuit Judge Sawyer were protected. Mrs. Terry, it will be remembered, made a personal assault upon Judge Sawyer last year. The order for protection was based upon this fact and upon the threats declared to have been made especially by Terry against Justice Field. The latter has not been arrested. A passenger on the train at Lathrop this morning says that when he heard the "pop" he rushed out of the car and saw Mrs. Terry with a satchel in her hand. She was trying to open it and he took it from her. She tried to get possession of it again but failed. When the satchel was opened afterwards a pistol was found in it.

David Nagel, the deputy United States marshal who killed Terry, is well known in this city. In the latter part of 1870 he went to Arizona and in 1881 he received the appointment as chief of police of Tombstone. While occupying that position he had frequent encounters with the criminal element, and by his behavior he soon earned for himself the reputation of being a man of indisputable courage. On one occasion he shot and killed a Mexican desperado in Tombstone after a desperate encounter. Nagel was appointed deputy marshal here one year ago, and when Terry made his assault on Marshal Franks last September Nagel disarmed him. The reports circulated that Terry intended doing Judge Field some injury when they said caused Nagel to be detailed to act as a body guard to him, when he came to this court a few days ago. Nagel is [illegible] of age and has a wife and [illegible] children.

STOCKTON, CAL., August 14.—The corpse arrived here at 12 40 o'clock today with Terry's body in a box covered with white cloth. Mrs. Terry rode in the express car with the remains and was accompanied by several friends of the deceased. When the body was taken off the car she followed and rode with it in the express wagon to the morgue. She was distressed and said it was a cowardly murder of an unarmed man. An inquest will be held to night. Deputy Marshal Nagel was brought here in a buggy by the constable at 10 30 o'clock. When the overland train left Lathrop after the shooting the constable got on the car and arrested Nagel. He rode with him to Tracy and there they took a buggy to Stockton to avoid the crowds. When Nagel reached the jail he alighted from the buggy and went in with his coat covering his hand cuffed hands. Nagel requested to be interviewed. He said: "I am a United States marshal and simply did my duty as an officer." He was locked up alone and soon after sent for a local attorney. His pistol was given to the jailer. It is a large 44 caliber Colts revolver of the old pattern with two charges exploded. Nagel was very cool but looked pale and determined. On being searched he gave up everything without comment.

PORTLAND, ORE., August 14.—The news of the tragical death of Judge Terry at Lathrop, Calif., produced a sensation in this city. Terry's reputation is so well known here that the news of the fatal shooting produced almost as much excitement in this city as if it had been an affair of local importance. Everyone, almost, was familiar with the sentiment of hatred Terry bore Justice Field—born of the Sharon divorce suit and the justice's late decision in the case. The moment the news of the Terry killing flashed through the city the name of David C. Broderick, whom he killed in a duel in 1859, was uttered by many tongues, and many old Californians now living here said: "Served him right, it is just retribution."

The Marauders.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., August 14.—It is reported that the Indians are moving east and that they were seen at the head of Elk creek yesterday. From reports their objective point is the old hunting ground up near the head of White river. That no step is taken to head them off and send them back where they belong is wondered at in this community. Should no action be taken by the officials, private parties are planning a raid on the red marauders and a lively skirmish will result. The game is fast disappearing before their reckless slaughter and the indignant settlers who are killed about when they kill enough to eat are asking why the injustice is allowed. From the great attention of old muskets and the rest of ammunition it looks as though a campaign had already been planned for the extermination of the Utes.

PERRYVILLE, MO., August 14.—The grand jury indictment of Sullivan gives six counts of alleged lawless acts. They were at the fight. [illegible] were also found against Refugee Fitzpatrick, Jake Kilrain, Muldoon, Lewis and Donovan. The indictment against Fitzpatrick charged him with aiding and abetting the fight, but did not specify in what way. Copies of the indictments will be sent to Governor Lowry with the request that he issue requisitions for the offenders.

Stock Market.

CINCINNATI, August 14.—The superintendent of police having notified theatrical and base ball managers that Sunday performances and ball games will not hereafter be permitted, Manager Stone to day called on Mayor Mallory to ask permission to play the remaining four games scheduled here for Sundays. The mayor made a positive refusal and told him that real bona fide attacks of the managers and players would be made on the spot if a game were attempted. Theatrical managers all say they will not [illegible] the law.

MILES CITY, MONT., August 14.—The prairies a few miles to the north and southeast of Miles City are on fire. The fires cover several thousand acres in extent. The lightning during the storm of Sunday night is the cause of the fires. A body of men from this place are preparing to go out and fight the flames. A heavy haze is hanging over the town and the heat from the fires is very perceptible.

Kansas City Failure.

KANSAS CITY, August 14.—Houghton, Peck & Co., manufacturers and wholesale dealers in men's furnishing goods, made a general assignment to day in favor of their creditors. The liabilities are placed by the firm at $100,000 and assets at $110,000. The National Bank of Commerce of this city is the largest creditor and the next heaviest creditor is the First National bank of Kansas City. The firm owes the latter $38,000.

Terrific Cloud Burst.

PATERSON, N. J., August 14.—A terrific cloud burst occurred here this morning. Streets were washed out, cellars flooded and sewers choked so that water spurted out of man holes to the height of ten feet. Side walks were washed away and a woman was swept several blocks towards the river before she was rescued by three men. In some places the water is running in creeks four feet deep.

Sorial Apportionment.

HELENA, MONT., August 14.—The senatorial apportionment committee reported and recommended that each county be a senatorial district, and that newly created counties be made new districts. Each county is to have one senator for the present.

Billiard Match Arranged.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Harvey McKenna and Jacob Schaefer have signed articles of agreement for a straight three ball match to be played in New York City in November 1889. The game will be 3,000 points for five thousand dollars.

PARTY CONVENTIONS.

Iowa Republicans and Virginia Democrats in Session.

The Nominations for Gubernatorial Candidates Made.

Number of Ballots Taken at Des Moines Without Choice.

Governor Larrabee's Name Withdrawn at His Request.

Iowa Politics.

DES MOINES, IOWA, August 14.—The republican state convention met at 11 o'clock to day. Jno. N. Irwin, of Keokuk, was elected temporary chairman and the usual committees were appointed when the convention took a recess. On reassembling B. Hallinger was made permanent chairman. The nominations for governor were made and the balloting continued throughout the evening and until late in the night, despite the frequent attempts to adjourn. Larrabee's name was withdrawn at his request, but notwithstanding, several delegates still continue to vote for him.

At 8.15 o'clock the balloting was suspended long enough to unanimously adopt a resolution pledging Iowa to the support of Chicago as the most suitable city in which to hold the world's fair in 1892. The last ballot of the day was taken a few minutes after midnight. It was the twenty-second ballot and resulted: Hull 446, Wheeler 381, Hutchinson 351, Crapo 8. It becoming apparent that no nomination could be made to-night, the convention adjourned at 12 30 until 9 a. m. to-morrow.

Virginia Democratic Convention.

RICHMOND, VA., August 14.—The democratic state convention met at noon to nominate candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. Hon. John W. Marshall was made temporary chairman. Chairman Marshall made a speech in which he mentioned the name of Grover Cleveland which was rapturously applauded. After the appointment of the usual committees the convention adjourned till 4 o'clock.

The convention reassembled at 4 p. m. The committee on organization committed, reported the name of R. B. Goodwell of Norfolk, speaker of the house of delegates as permanent chairman and W. W. Scott of Orange as permanent secretary. The committee proceeded to nominate candidates for governor and Messrs. McKinney, Venable, Heine, O'Ferrall, Tyler and Harris were placed in nomination in the order named. At 11.30 p. m. a ballot was taken with this result: McKinney, 594; Heine, 381, O'Ferrall, 301; Tyler, 199; Venable 73; Harris, 67. An unsuccessful effort was made to take another ballot, after which the convention adjourned until 10 a. m. to-morrow.

[illegible]

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 14.—The last official act of the executive committee of the National League of Republican clubs was held to-day. The principal topic of discussion to day was the plan of holding the next convention. It was proposed to get up excursions for delegates and make a tour of the south, stopping at towns along the route and have prominent republicans make addresses to the people. Governor Foraker, Major McKinley, General Woodford and others have already committed to speak. Should this plan be carried out the object would be to educate southern republicans, and New York Tribune was made the official organ of the league.

[illegible]

PARIS, August 14.—The senate to day found General Dillon and Henri Rochefort guilty of complicity in the felonious attempt against the safety of the state. It was decided by a vote of 100 to 97 that the acts charged in the indictment against the accused in connection with the presidential crisis in 1887 constituted a punishable attempt. Senator Constant signed that the charge of embezzlement against Boulanger had been proved. Le Royer, president of the senate, and Senator Margaine, signed that the court was incompetent to try Boulanger on the charge of misappropriation of funds and that charge must be referred to a court martial.

The court then found Boulanger guilty of the charge of embezzling public funds, and refused to allow that there were extenuating circumstances. The court then sentenced Boulanger, Dillon and Rochefort to be deported to a fortified place.

After the announcement of the sentence the court adjourned in order to frame the text of the decisions, which will be acted upon in secret session and read at a public sitting. The republican groups of the senate adopted a resolution requesting the government to issue a decree after the court has disclosed, calling attention to the gravity of the action of some of the ministers, and demanding that steps be taken against all those implicated in the affair.

[illegible] West Cliff.

DURANGO, COLO., August 14.—The report to the effect that the D. & R. G. road would abandon its West Cliff branch is denied by General Manager Smith. Although the line has never been a paying one, the yearly cost from repairs of washouts exceeding the net earnings, it is not and never has been the intention of the company to abandon its operation. The recent heavy floods almost entirely washed away a large portion of the road bed but this will be repaired and put in running shape just as soon as the construction force of the company have finished the work of putting the main lines in shape. The D. & R. G. does not build lines to stay for them.

[illegible]

PORTLAND, ORE., August 14.—Forest fires are raging in Oregon and Washington and the smoke is so dense in this city that one cannot see buildings half a mile up the street, and at times the electric lights in the city have to blow whistles at intervals to avoid collision. In places the fire threatens settlements, and within fifty miles many people are fighting the fire.

[illegible] Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—The fight to a finish, Queensbury rules, for a purse of $500 between Charles Turner, colored, of Stockton, California, and Frank Gorhan of Australia, was won by Turner in three to eight after eight rounds.

Death Under Falling Walls.

CHICAGO, August 14.—A [illegible] this morning by the falling of a wall in the ruins. Joseph Depp and Nick Silver were killed.

The Damage Overestimated.

LINCOLN, NEB., August 14.—The flood is subsiding and the damage has been greatly overestimated. No lives were lost and no houses washed away.

Store Keepers and Gangers.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The secretary of the treasury has appointed the store keepers and gangers E. A. Avery, George Kromer and Albert Hair in the fourth California district.

Shot by Negroes.

JACKSON, TENN., August 14.—This morning Chief of Police Creston was shot and fatally wounded by negroes. He discovered them in hiding and fired first. No arrests have been made.

Weather Indications.

WAR DEPARTMENT, SIGNAL SERVICE OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14, 10 p. m.—Indications for twenty four hours commencing Thursday, August 15, at 7 a. m.: For Colorado—Fair, warmer in eastern portion, stationary temperature in western portion, variable winds.

An Important Discovery.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—Dr. A. B. Shaw, who has been making microscopic examinations of the Brown Sequard elixir, discovered while experimenting that the fluid was alive with countless bacteria although but three hours had elapsed since the elixir was prepared. The bacilla, that is supposed to cause tuberculosis were found in great quantity, thousands being in a single drop of mixture.

Entertaining Austria's Emperor.

BERLIN, August 14.—Emperor William and the emperor of Austria left Berlin this morning for Spandau where a sham fight took place. One side used the new smokeless powder and the other the old style powder. The contrast was striking. After the battle Emperor William called the officers together and criticized the operations. The emperors lunched in tents on the field and then returned to Berlin.

To Be Hanged.

DENVER, August 14.—The attorneys for Henry Tyson, under sentence to be hanged the third week in August, to day called the attention of Governor Cooper to chapter 25, section 12 of the criminal code, general statutes, which relates to the execution of an insane person. The governor has referred the matter to the attorney general for his opinion and in all probability the governor will to-morrow issue a stay of proceedings in the case.

BERLIN, August 14.—The North German Gazette, Bismarck's organ, referring to the impending visit of the German Colonial company, says: [illegible] the action of British officials is, politically, inadmissible. England, the Gazette says, will eventually settle matters. England's friendship is of more value to Germany than all the Emin expedition could obtain on the Upper Nile. If Dr. Peters succeeds forcibly, or jointly with Emin Pasha, to seize the province secured to Turkey and Egypt by treaties, the enterprise will fall under the operation of the laws of the countries whose interests are prejudiced.

BAR HARBOR, ME., August 14.—The president and party left Bar Harbor in a rain storm, reaching this place at 11 o'clock.

BATH, ME., August 14.—President Harrison reached here at 1 p. m. Some remarkably fast time was made on the way. One mile was covered in 48 seconds, another in 55 seconds and the 55 miles in 62 minutes. Here the party was received with enthusiasm. They went to lunch with Senator Sewell, and left for Manchester at 4 30 p. m.

A prominent arrival at the Antlers hotel yesterday was ex-First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson. A GAZETTE reporter met Mr. Stevenson soon after his arrival and interviewed him as to the season of his visit to Colorado at this time. Mr. Stevenson states that his present visit is made solely for the benefit of his wife's health. He will remain several days in this city and then go to Manitou for a month or six weeks. This is his second visit to Colorado, he having spent the summer of 1882 here, and he is greatly surprised at the wonderful growth of the city.

Since retiring from office last March Mr. Stevenson has returned to his home in Bloomington, Ill., and resumed the practice of law. He was greatly exhausted by the work of his office and hopes to be able to fully recuperate in Colorado. Mr. Stevenson says that he has been paying but little attention to politics in the past few months but has no doubt of the success of his party in the next general election. He is not of the division that Mr. Cleveland is trimming his sails for the nomination in 1892.

General Stevenson is a man about 50 years of age, six feet in height, broad shouldered and a splendid specimen of physical manhood. He wears an iron gray mustache and dresses quietly. He cordially greets and converses with all who approach him.

The Club Returns.

The Colorado Springs ball club arrived at home yesterday morning after a two weeks' tour among the mountain towns. It brought back almost a clean score of defeats, but accounts for them by the altitude and general hard luck. Next week the Aspen club will come to this city for four games after which it is probable that the home club will go to pieces. The management is figuring to take the home club a trip to Salt Lake City and the coast. Yesterday two of the best players left, having been offered good places with other clubs. They were Glenalvin and Newman, and they go to Grand Island, Neb. It is no more than just to give both of these players some credit for their work in this city. Glenalvin is without doubt the best ball player ever connected with a club in this city and it is doubtful if he has his equal as a second baseman in the Western association. He is also a gentleman in his conduct both on and off the diamond, and a young man of good habits. Newman was not connected with the club as long as Glenalvin, but his work in center field was always good and his batting perhaps the best in the league.

Mr. A. R. Balson is quite ill with fever, but expects to be able to attend to business very soon.

The Colorado Springs ball club is expected home to-day, but it does not come bearing a spray of laurel.

Miss Lulu Wilcox, of Warsaw, Ill., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. M. R. Draper, at No. 1216 North Weber street.

The Good Templars society enjoyed a picnic at the residence of W. H. Jones in Cheyenne canon Monday evening.

A young man fell while descending the mountain from Helen Hunt's grave yesterday and was quite seriously injured. His name could not be learned.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Robert A. Handy, of Phillipsburg, Kan., and Miss Addie Robertson, of Colorado Springs. Mr. Handy is a well known banker of Kansas.

There are undelivered messages at the Western Union Telegraph office for Mary Welboro, John Hy Willeg, Edwin Alden, Thos E. Gaines, Isaac Shepard, Otto W. Sieffins, Glenalvin and Valiely.

Late Perkins, of the popular queensware firm of Perkins Bros., is gradually impoverishing himself. Just ask him for a cigar, watermelon, sour drops or anything else and get it, all on account of the big fat boy that came to his house last Saturday.

Sooty & Pooley have two handsome photographs of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman, the singers, that it is doubtful if the like can be produced in the west. A majority of the work turned out by this firm is something for Colorado Springs to be proud of.

The Denver, Texas and Fort Worth railroad located a station at the city cemetery and all trains now stop there. The station will be known as Mt. Washington and will be a great convenience to those wishing to visit the cemetery. A fare of 25 cents for the round trip will be made.

A prominent contractor (in conversation stated) yesterday that he believed the coming fall would see an unprecedented amount of building. There is a great deal of talk and many persons getting estimates, and a large per cent of it will result in building. He stated that there is now more building being done in the city than at any time in its history, and states that at a quarter of a million dollars. He thinks the end of the year will show a million dollars expended in building in this city.

Next Saturday the excursion will leave for Grand canon. The gentlemen having it in charge are responsible business men and will see that everything is done to make a complete success. The train will leave Manitou at 7:30 and Colorado Springs at 8 o'clock. Besides the ride through the Royal Gorge, probably the most wonderful ride that anyone ever took, an opportunity will be given to view the penitentiary at Canon City. The fare will be $4.25 from this city and no one who has not taken the trip can afford to miss it.

Mayor Stillman stated yesterday evening that the reason the bridge on East Kiowa street was closed was that it was unsafe and the authorities did not believe that the city could afford to take the chances of paying for the loss of a life or an injury to any person, even if the living east of the bridge were inconvenienced. At the time the bridge was closed it was believed the new one would be here within three weeks, or steps would have been taken to have had it repaired for temporary use. There has been delay in receiving the new one, but the company which has the contract is responsible and not the city. The company is under bond to complete the bridge by September 1st and will be held strictly to its contract.

The San Francisco "Music and Drama" said: "Old Jed Prouty is not a caricature, but a faithful reproduction of a well known character in Bucksport, Maine, one of a class so common in New England that his prototype may be found in many of the little villages that line the shores of the Penobscot or nestle among the mountains of New Hampshire. The peculiar charm of Richard Golden's impersonation is his realistic reproduction of every little peculiarity of "Old Jed" jesture and facial expression. When it is known Mr. Golden is a young man, his wonderful talent impresses itself at once." The play will be produced at the opera house next Saturday evening.

Mr. J. B. Polk in "Mixed Pickles" will be the attraction at the opera house next Saturday evening. The New York Herald in describing the play says: "When shall we know the value of fun that comes from depicting the incongruities of life? When? When we have seen Polk in 'Mixed Pickles.' The brothers, Joseph and Arthur Pickle, are respectively bad and good and both are in love with Cherry Brown. To get precedence, Joseph the bad, represents Arthur the good, gets his brother in no end of scrapes and himself procures the hand of his beloved Cherry. The daring [illegible] How this is brought about is acted with [illegible] and exquisite fun by Mr. Joseph Polk that one is drawn into the very meshes of it, in fact, there is no way to get out of it."

A fair and appreciative audience greeted Blind Boone at Weber hall last evening. The programme was quite long and included all classes of playing, in each of which Boone showed an efficiency seldom attained by his more fortunate competitors. The ease with which he changed from classical and difficult numbers to light and popular songs and airs was truly remarkable. The playing evidently pleased the audience, for encores were frequent. During the evening, in order to exhibit Boone's musical memory, the audience was asked to select a person to play a selection. Miss Hartnett responded and played a very difficult selection blindfold. After hearing it for the first time set at the piano and played it with almost the same touch and expression of the previous player. Miss Stella May assisted Blind Boone by rendering in a very creditable manner several vocal selections.

JUDGE TERRY KILLED.

Shot Through the Heart by Deputy U. S. Marshal Nagel.

Terry Slaps Justice Field and the Killing Follows.

Scene of Excitement in a Railroad Depot Lunch Room.

The Sudden End of a Notorious and Unsavory Career.

A Sensational Killing

LATHROP, Cal., August 14.—Upon the arrival of the Southern overland train here at 7.30 a. m. United States Supreme Judge Stephen J. Field and Deputy Marshal David Nagel walked into the depot dining room for breakfast and sat down side by side. Soon after Judge David Terry and wife came in also. They proceeded to another table. Mrs. Terry evidently recognizing Justice Field did not sit down, but retired to the train for some unknown purpose. Before reaching it, however, and as soon as she had left the dining room Judge Terry approached Justice Field, and stooping over him, gently slapped his face once. At this juncture Deputy Marshal Nagel arose from his seat and shot Judge Terry, apparently through the heart. As he was falling the deputy marshal shot again, but did not hit him, the bullet going through the door. Both shots were fired in very quick succession.

Judge Terry had hardly fallen when Mrs. Terry rushed to the side of his body and threw herself upon it. Then ensued a scene of the wildest excitement. People rushed from the dining room and others rushed in. During this time Justice Field and Deputy Nagal retreated to a sleeping car. Before the train pulled out, Constable Walker entered the depot and was carried away on board the train. He informed the spectators that he knew his duty and would perform it. During the time the train was standing at the depot Mrs. Terry was running wildly alternately from the body of her husband to the sleeper, demanding admittance that she might slap Justice Field's face, and at the same time begging that they be detained and have their examination here. Previous to the entrance of Constable Walker into the sleeper, Sheriff Purvis and deputy of Stanislaus county had taken charge of Deputy United States Marshal Nagel but afterward released him.

After the shooting Nagel backed against the wall of the dining room and warned every one not to arrest him, saying he was a United States officer in discharge of his duty. There was no semblance of an attempt to molest him at any time.

Constable Walker took Deputy Nagel from the train at Tracy and proceeded with him to Stockton, where he now is in jail. States Attorney White ordered the arrest of Justice Field upon his arrival in San Francisco. Chief of Police Crowley received a dispatch from Sheriff Curtingham of Stockton, to arrest Judge Field and Deputy Marshal Nagel on the arrival of the train at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—The news of the shooting of Judge Terry at Lathrop caused intense excitement here. Mrs. Terry was formerly Sarah Althea Hill, who through long litigation claimed to be the wife of ex Senator Sharon. Terry was her attorney. Judge Field decided she was not Sharon's wife, and Sarah denounced Field in the open court as corrupt. Field ordered her removed from the court, when Terry drew a knife in her defense, and both were then sent to jail for six months for contempt of court. This was in September last, and to day was Terry's first meeting with Field since. That there would be a killing when they met was generally believed, owing to Terry's record. He came to California in '49. In '53 he stabbed a member of the vigilance committee, and came near being strung up. In '59 he killed Senator Broderick as the result of political differences.

Judge Field was seen by an Associated Press reporter on his arrival here at noon. He said for the last two months all sorts of reports have reached him that Judge Terry had threatened to subject him to some form of indignity should he meet him. This fact caused the United States marshal to decide to provide such protection as he could during Justice Field's stay in the city. "At the Lathrop eating house this morning," said Justice Field, "I took a seat at the end of a table while Nagel sat at one side of me. Terry and his wife came in soon after. As soon as Mrs. Terry saw me she went out of the room, as I afterwards learned, returning to the car for her satchel. Judge Terry sat and I supposed he intended to accompany her. Instead of doing so he walked up to me and struck me a heavy slap in the face. I was completely astonished. As he was making ready to strike again Deputy Marshal Nagel cried 'stop,' 'stop,' and as he was raising his arm the second time Nagel shot him, the bullet entering his heart and that is all I know of the matter."

Protection was accorded Justice Field, it is claimed, by the authority of Attorney General Miller, who instructed the marshal of the district to see that the persons of Justice Field and Circuit Judge Sawyer were protected. Mrs. Terry, it will be remembered, made a personal assault upon Judge Sawyer last year. The order for protection was based upon this fact and upon the threats declared to have been made recently by Terry against Justice Field. The latter has not been arrested.

A passenger on the train at Lathrop this morning says that when he heard the shooting he rushed out of the car and saw Mrs. Terry with a satchel in her hand. She was trying to open it and he took it from her. She tried to get possession of it again but failed. When the satchel was opened afterwards a pistol was found in it.

David Nagel, the deputy United States marshal who killed Terry, is well known in this city. In the latter part of 1880 he went to Arizona and in 1881 he received the appointment as chief of police of Tombstone. While occupying that position he had frequent encounters with the criminal element and by his behavior he soon earned for himself the reputation of being a man of indisputable courage. On one occasion he shot and killed a Mexican desperado in Tombstone after a desperate encounter. Nagel was appointed deputy marshal here one year ago, and when Terry made his threats out on Marshal Franks last September Nagel disarmed him. The reports circulated that Terry intended doing Judge Field injury when they met caused Nagel to be detailed to act as a body guard to him, when he came to this city a few months ago. Nagel is about forty years of age and has a wife and family residing in this city.

STOCKTON, Cal., August 14.—The corpse arrived here at 12.10 o'clock today with Terry's body in a box covered with white cloth. Mrs. Terry rode in the express car with the remains and was accompanied by several friends of the deceased. When the body was taken off the car she followed and rode with it in the express wagon to the morgue. She was distressed and said it was a cowardly murder of an unarmed man. An inquest will be held to night. Deputy Marshal Nagel was brought here in a buggy by the constable at 10.30 o'clock. When the overland train left Lathrop after the shooting the constable got on the car and arrested Nagel. He rode with him to Tracy and there they took a buggy to Stockton to avoid the crowds. When Nagel reached the jail he alighted from the buggy and went in with his coat covering his hand cuffed hands. Nagel requested to be interviewed. He said, "I am a United States marshal and simply did my duty as an officer." He was locked up alone and soon after sent for a local attorney. His pistol was given to the jailer. It is a large 44 caliber Colts revolver of the old pattern with two charges exploded. Nagel was very cool but looked pale and determined. On being searched he gave up everything without comment.

PORTLAND, Ore., August 14.—The news of the tragical death of Judge Terry at Lathrop, Calif., produced a sensation in this city. Terry's reputation is so well known here that the news of the fatal shooting produced almost as much excitement in this city as if it had been an affair of local importance. Everyone, almost, was familiar with the sentiment of hatred Terry bore Justice Field—born of the Sharon divorce suit and the justice's late decision in the case. The moment the news of the Terry killing flashed through the city the name of David C. Broderick, whom he killed in a duel in 1859, was uttered by many tongues, and many old Californians now living here said "Served him right; it is just retribution."

Uncle Sam's Foes.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., August 14.—It is reported that the Indians are moving east and that they were seen at the head of Elk creek yesterday. From reports their objective point is the old hunting ground up near the head of White river. That no step is taken to head them off and send them back where they belong is wondered at in this community. Should no action be taken by the officials, private parties are planning a raid on the red marauders and a lively skirmish will result. The game is fast disappearing before their reckless slaughter and the indignant settlers who are hounded about when they kill enough to eat are asking why the injustice is allowed. From the concentration of old muskets and the reckless purchase of ammunition it looks as though a campaign had already been planned for the extermination of the Utes.

PITTSBURG, Miss., August 14.—The grand jury indictments of Sullivan given six months of grand jurymen are [illegible]. They were at the fight, indictments were also found against Rufus Fitzpatrick, Jake Kilrain, Middleton, [illegible] and Donovan. The indictment against Fitzpatrick charged him with aiding and abetting the fight, but did not specify in what way. Copies of the indictments will be sent to Governor Lowry with the request that he [illegible] requisitions for the offenders.

[illegible]

CINCINNATI, August 14.—The superintendent of police having notified theatrical and base ball managers that Sunday performances and ball games will not hereafter be permitted, Manager Stone to day called on Mayor Mosby to ask permission to play the remaining four games scheduled here for Sundays. The mayor made a positive refusal and told him that real bona fide accounts of the managers and players would be made on the spot if a game were attempted. Theatrical managers all say they will not oppose the law.

[illegible]

MILES CITY, M[illegible], August 14.—The prairies a few miles to the north and southeast of Miles City are on fire. The fires cover several thousand acres in extent. The lightning during the storm of Sunday night is the cause of the fires. A body of men from this place are preparing to go out and fight the flames. A heavy smoke is hanging over the town and the heat from the fires is very perceptible.

[illegible]

KANSAS CITY, August 14.—Houghton, Peck & Co., manufacturers and wholesale dealers in men's furnishing goods, made a general assignment to-day in favor of their creditors. The liabilities are placed by the firm at $100,000 and assets at $110,000. The National Bank of Commerce of this city is the largest creditor and the next heaviest creditor is the First National bank of Kansas City. The firm owes the latter $38,000.

Terrific Cloud Burst.

PATERSON, N. J., August 14.—A terrific cloud burst occurred here this morning. Streets were washed out, cellars flooded and sewers choked so that water spurted out of man holes to the height of ten feet. Side walks were washed away and a woman was swept several blocks towards the river before she was rescued by three men. In some places the water is running in creeks four feet deep.

Senatorial Apportionment.

HELENA, Mont., August 14.—The senatorial apportionment committee reported and recommended that each county be a senatorial district, and that newly created counties be made new districts. Each county is to have one senator for the present.

Billiard Match Arranged.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Hartley McKenna and Jacob Schaefer have signed articles of agreement for a straight three ball match to be played in New York City in November 1889. The game will be 3,000 points for five thousand dollars.

PARTY CONVENTIONS.

Iowa Republicans and Virginia Democrats in Session.

The Nominations for Gubernatorial Candidates Made.

Number of Ballots Taken at Des Moines Without Choice.

Governor Larrabee's Name Withdrawn at His Request.

Iowa Republicans.

DES MOINES, Iowa, August 14.—The republican state convention met at 11 o'clock to day. Jno. N. Irwin, of Keokuk, was elected temporary chairman and the usual committees were appointed when the convention took a recess. On reassembling B. Sullinger was made permanent chairman. The nominations for governor were made and the balloting continued throughout the evening and until late in the night, despite the frequent attempts to adjourn. Larrabee's name was withdrawn at his request, but notwithstanding, several delegates still continue to vote for him.

At 8:16 o'clock the balloting was suspended long enough to unanimously adopt a resolution pledging Iowa to the support of Chicago as the most suitable city in which to hold the world's fair in 1892. The last ballot of the day was taken a few minutes after midnight. It was the twenty-second ballot and resulted: Hull 446, Wheeler 381, Hutchinson 351, Crapo 3. It being apparent that no nomination could be made to-night, the convention adjourned at 12.30 until 9 a. m. to morrow.

Virginia Democratic Convention.

RICHMOND, Va., August 14.—The democratic state convention met at noon to nominate candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. Hon. James W. Marshall was made temporary chairman. Chairman Marshall made a speech in which he mentioned the name of Grover Cleveland which was rapturously applauded. After the appointment of the usual committees the convention adjourned till 4 o'clock.

The convention reassembled in session at 4 p. m. The permanent organization committee reported the name of R. H. Cardwell of Hanover, speaker of the house of delegates, as permanent chairman and W. W. Scott of Orange as permanent secretary. The convention proceeded to nominate candidates for governor and Messrs. McKinney, Venable, Bryan, O'Ferrall, Tyler and Harris were placed in nomination under the rule. At 11.30 p. m. a ballot was taken with this result: McKinney, 391; Holme 381, O'Ferrall, 301; Tyler, 189; Venable, 73; Harris, 67. An unsuccessful effort was made to take another ballot after which the convention adjourned until 10 a. m. to morrow.

[illegible]

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 14.—The last official act of the executive committee of the National League of Republican clubs was held to-day. The principal topic of discussion to day was the plan of holding the next convention. It was proposed to get up excursions for delegates and make a tour of the south, stopping at towns along the route and have prominent republican speakers address the people. Governor Foraker, Major McKinley, General Woodford and others have already consented to speak. It is said this plan became noised out the object being to [illegible] the democrats. The Tribune was made the official organ of the league.

[illegible]

PARIS, August 14.—The [illegible] court to day heard Count Dillon and Henri Rochefort on the complaint of Boulanger in the felonious attempt against the safety of the state. It was decided by a vote of 100 to 97 that the acts charged in the indictment against the accused in connection with the presidential crisis in 1887 constituted a treasonable attempt. Senator Compère-Morel argued that the charge of embezzlement against Boulanger had been proved. M. Royer, president of the senate, and Senator Margaine, argued that the court was incompetent to try Boulanger on the charge of misappropriation of funds and that charge must be referred to a court martial.

The court then found Boulanger guilty of the charge of embezzling public funds and decided to allow that there were extenuating circumstances. The court then sentenced Boulanger, Dillon and Rochefort to be deported to a fortified [illegible].

After the announcement of the sentence the court adjourned in order to frame the text of the decision of which will be acted upon in secret session and read at a public sitting. The republican groups of the senate adopted a resolution requesting the government to issue a decree after the court has discharged, calling attention to the gravity of the attitude of some of the ministers, and demanding that steps be taken against all officials implicated in the affair.

DENVER, Colo., August 14.—The report to the effect that the D. & R. G. would abandon its West Cliff branch is denied by General Manager Smith. Although the line has never been a paying one, the yearly cost from repairs of washouts exceeding the net earnings, it is not and never has been the intention of the company to abandon its construction. The recent heavy floods almost entirely washed away a large portion of the road bed but this will be repaired and put in running shape just as soon as the construction force of the company have finished the work of putting the main lines in shape. The D. & R. G. does not build lines to abandon them.

[illegible]

PORTLAND, Ore., August 14.—Forest fires are raging in Oregon and Washington and the smoke is so dense in this city that one cannot see buildings half a mile up the street, and at times the sun [illegible] the city has to blow whistles at intervals to avoid collision. In places the fire threatens settlements, and within fifty miles many people are fighting the fire.

Night Work in a Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—The fight to a finish, Queensbury rules, for a purse of $500 between Charles Turner, colored, of Stockton, California, and Paddy Gorham of Australia, was won by Turner here to-night after eight rounds.

Death Under Falling Walls.

CHICAGO, August 14.—A building fell this morning burying a number of workmen in the ruins. Joseph Dipp and Nick Silver were killed.

The Damage Overestimated.

LINCOLN, Neb., August 14.—The flood is subsiding and the damage has been greatly overestimated. No lives were lost and no houses washed away.

Store Keepers and Gangers.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The secretary of the treasury has appointed as store keepers and gangers E. A. Avery, George Knomer and Albert Harlan in the fourth California district.

Officer Shot by Negroes.

JACKSON, Tenn., August 14.—This morning Chief of Police Gaston was shot and fatally wounded by negroes. He discovered them in hiding and fired first. No arrests have been made.

Weather Indications.

An Important Discovery.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—Dr. A. B. Shaw, who has been making microscopic examinations of the Brown Sequard elixir, discovered while experimenting that the fluid was alive with countless bacteria although but three hours had elapsed since the elixir was prepared. The bacilli, that is supposed to cause tuberculosis, were found in great quantity, thousands being in a single drop of mixture.

Entertaining Austria's Emperor.

BERLIN, August 14.—Emperor William and the emperor of Austria left Berlin this morning for Spandau where a sham fight took place. One side used the new smokeless powder and the other the old style powder. The contrast was striking. After the battle Emperor William called the officers together and criticized the operations. The emperors lunched in tents on the field and then returned to Berlin.

[illegible] to the Governor.

DENVER, August 14.—The attorneys for Henry Tyson, under sentence to be hanged the third week in August, to day called the attention of Governor Cooper to chapter 25, section 12 of the criminal code, general statutes, which relates to the execution of an insane person. The governor has referred the matter to the attorney general for his opinion and in all probability the governor will to morrow issue a stay of proceedings in the case.

[illegible]

BERLIN, August 14.—The North German Gazette, Bismarck's organ, referring to the impending visit of the German Colonial party, says: "All protests against the action of British officials is, politically, undesirable. England, the Gazette says, will eventually settle with us. England's friendship is of more value to Germany than all the Emin expeditions could obtain on the Upper Nile. If Dr. Peters intends forcibly, or jointly with Emin Pasha, to seize the province secured to Turkey and Egypt by treaties, the enterprise will fall under the operation of the laws of the countries whose interests are prejudiced.

The Presidential Party.

BANGOR, Me., August 14.—The president and party left Bar Harbor in a rain storm on Sunday this morning at 11 o'clock.

BATH, Me., August 14.—President Harrison reached here at 1 p. m. Some remarkably fast time was made on the way. One mile was covered in 48 seconds, another in 55 seconds and the 55 miles in 62 minutes. Here the party was received with enthusiasm. They went to lunch with Senator Sewall, and left for Manchester at 4.30 p. m.

[illegible]

A gentleman at dinner at the Antlers hotel yesterday was ex-First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson. A Gazette reporter met Mr. Stevenson soon after his arrival and interviewed him as to the object of his visit to Colorado at this time. Mr. Stevenson states that his present visit is made solely for the benefit of his wife's health. He will remain several days in this city and then go to Manitou for a month or six weeks. This is his second visit to Colorado, he having spent the summer of 1882 here, and he is greatly surprised at the wonderful growth of the city.

Since retiring from office last March Mr. Stevenson has returned to his home in Bloomington, Ill., and resumed the practice of law. He was greatly exhausted by the work of his office and hopes to be able to fully recuperate in Colorado. Mr. Stevenson says that he has been paying but little attention to politics in the past few months, but has no doubt of the success of his party in the next general election. He is not of the opinion that Mr. Cleveland is trimming his sails for the nomination in 1892.

General Stevenson is a man about 50 years of age, six feet in height, broad shouldered and a splendid specimen of physical manhood. He wears an iron gray mustache and dresses quietly. He cordially greets and converses with all who approach him.

The Club Note.

The Colorado Springs ball club arrived at home yesterday morning after a two weeks' tour among the mountain towns. It brought back almost a clean score of defeats, but accounts for them by the altitude and general hard luck. Next week the Aspen club will come to this city for four games, after which it is probable that the home club will go to pieces. The management is figuring to take the home club a trip to Salt Lake City and the coast. Yesterday two of the best players left, having been offered good places with other clubs. They were Glenalvin and Newman, and they go to Grand Island, Neb. It is no more than just to give both of these players some credit for their work in this city. Glenalvin is without doubt the best ball player ever connected with a club in this city, and it is doubtful if he has his equal as a second baseman in the Western association. He is also a gentleman in his conduct both on and off the diamond and a young man of good habits. Newman was not connected with the club as long as Glenalvin, but his work in center field was always good and his batting perhaps the best in the league.

THE STREETS IN PARRISH'S ADDITION

Are 100 to 140 feet in width. THE ALLEYS are all 20 feet wide. There are no 60 or 80 feet streets, and narrow, 10-feet alleys, such as are found in other loudly advertised "Additions," with high sounding titles, where you pay high prices for lots, without duly considering that you are throwing away your money.

In the Alley Behind Every Lot in Parrish's Addition

There is a 3 inch Water Pipe, connected at Chase Street with a 16-inch main; the largest in the City's System. THE MAIN CITY DITCH, taking pure, clear water from the Fountain runs just back of PARRISH'S ADDITION, and within a stone's throw of it.

YOU ARE SURE TO GET WATER

(Both Local Pipes and Ditch) in PARRISH'S ADDITION if there is any water in the Fountain, even if other parts of the city are suffering from scarcity of the precious fluid.

REMEMBER THE FOREGOING, and then, when I tell you I will sell you a First-Class

To $1,000 a full size lot 50 by 190 feet do not hesitate a moment about buying. You can buy two lots on a corner, and erect pretty little cottages thereon, giving each cottage a neat, pretty little yard, and readily rent them, owing to the location, etc.

To Pay You 25 to 35 Per Cent Per Annum on the Entire Investment.

WHERE CAN YOU DO THIS EIGHT HERE?

The Street Car Line Runs Through PARRISH'S ADDITION, from East to West, and will doubtless soon be extended to the North, along the "Old Road," up to THE ROCK ISLAND SHOPS. Lots are sold on Time to Suit Buyers, if possible.

THE WATER QUESTION

While much has been said and written on the insufficiency of the water supply of Colorado Springs, the fact remains that our supply [illegible] if our sanguine hopes are realized in regard to the [illegible] of water by the Lake Moraine project) will still, in the near future, be wholly inadequate to meet the wants of our growing city, and it is highly important that we avoid being again placed in a position so humiliating and expensive as that forced upon us by the town of Manitou.

It is not our present purpose to find fault with the acts or failure to act of previous city councils, nor to complain of the terms of the settlement of our present city council with the town of Manitou, however one may differ with the settlement may seem to us, but if possible to suggest a way to obtain an adequate supply of water and thus avoid future complications.

After a careful examination of the various sites in the vicinity of the city, the North Cheyenne Cañon would seem to be the most available for the following reasons:

First—It is far changed in extremely dry weather than any other stream in the immediate vicinity of the city, it having been estimated that at its low stage in the dry season it was for [illegible] its capacity was sufficient to fill a six-inch pipe taken out of the creek at an elevation sufficient to carry the water to all parts of the city.

Second—It would cost less to purchase or condemn the private appropriations of water rights for agricultural purposes in this cañon than upon any other in the city. For though the constitution of our state provides that "the taking of the water for a private purpose shall have the preference over the claiming for any other purpose," we do not apprehend that it was the intention of our law makers, or that it will be so held by our judiciary, that these holding water rights for other purposes shall be divested of such rights by the city acquiring rights for domestic purposes without just compensation.

It will cost little to secure these rights for water from the first three areas of land which can only be irrigated by this stream—is so sparsely settled. Quite a large portion of these lands are now more valuable (and the remainder is rapidly becoming so) for suburban [illegible] than for agricultural purposes. Much land now belongs at prices ranging from $600 to $1500 per acre.

The use to which it is to be put would positively be put having thus the good, it has doubtless materially increased the value of their agricultural priorities.

Third—The city already owns a large property—of the North Cheyenne cañon, including that part upon which it would be necessary to establish the plant including the reservoir, thus saving the city the expense and trouble of obtaining right of way for its pipe, gate, cutter [illegible] etc., and also giving the advantage of controlling the water by right of ownership of the property.

Hence we suggest and urge that our city council immediately carefully investigate the feasibility of obtaining an additional supply of water from the North Cheyenne cañon and should it be found feasible that they at once proceed to secure all of the adjacent rights on the stream, or so much of the same as they may deem necessary for the use of the city.

Delay is generally dangerous, and in this case it may be found to be particularly so, as other parties may acquire rights of which they cannot be divested. It will cost something to obtain this water, but it means ruin to suggest that water can no longer be had in this county for the asking or taking and that now it can be had by and at least expense is now the question before the city council.

Ed. Gazette.

Fairbury, August 14. Jake Kilrain was sent up this morning on his arrival from Mississippi. Jake took his medicine quietly and coolly said: "I intended all along to give my stiff up and was only waiting to see what they would do with Sullivan. I thought it better to do that than to be dodging around the country trying to evade arrest. Unfortunately, however, I was here a few days too soon. Had I waited a little longer I would have known what was done to Sullivan and then would know what to expect."

The news of the arrest was telegraphed to Governor Lowry, of Mississippi. Jake will probably be sent to Mississippi to night in charge of officers. A warrant for his arrest has been in the hands of the officers and they have been on the look out for him for two weeks.

Red Men's Ball.

Denver, August 14.—The great annual ball of the improved Order of Red Men of Colorado began its sessions in the chambers of commerce to day. Delegates are here from Pueblo, Central, Leadville, Colorado Springs and other places throughout the state, as well as from Denver. Wm. Vanderweydene presided as Mayor [illegible] delivered a short address of welcome. Addresses were also made by Jno. Johnson, Henry Kiefus, D. M. Fraley, Jno. Dickinson, E. [illegible], Jno. Hesser, Wm. Messick, Geo. Swerdrom and others. To-morrow officers will be nominated and elected. [illegible] will be Friday. To-morrow at 8 p. m. there will be a parade which will be led by Sing Hawley and sixteen picked members of the police force. The members of the grand council will occupy carriages and it is expected that over one thousand braves will be in line. In the evening there will be a grand ball at the chamber of commerce.

Stock Market.

New York, August 14.—The stock market was again dull to day. There was an attempt to carry yesterday's reaction still farther, and in some instances fractional changes were made in prices.

Unfortunate Experiment.

Birmingham, Ala., August 14.—On Monday night Dr. S. Lechenstein, recently of New York, experimented on his wife and a patient named L. D. May with the Brown-Sequard elixir. Both are now writhing in mortal agony, pain having begun several hours afterwards and increased ever since. Nervous exhaustion, a chilly feeling and symptoms of blood poisoning made their condition dangerous. Another experiment by Dr. Davis was made the same night, and has seemingly worked the marvelous cure of Alexander Hunter, who had been ill for twelve months with chronic dysentery.

Four Babies Found.

Johnstown, Pa., August 14.—Four babies were found and removed to the morgue to day. Two of them were girls and two children. They were all in a bad state of decomposition. One of the women was well dressed and may have been a passenger on the day express. She wore a black silk dress and had a large oval gold button on her collar and wore a Harrison and Morton badge. The other woman was well dressed and wore a plain gold ring engraved on the inside "N. D. and M. T. M. Feby 22d, 1875." She also wore a pin with a large rhinestone in the centre and eight smaller ones around it.

About Fog.

Fog and its [illegible] have been the subject of much discussion. By one writer the celebrated London fog is attributed to the cooling of the air by radiation from hills in the city, which air, flowing down, [illegible] the city. It has also been [illegible] that a cool northerly wind on the west side of a storm flows into the saturated air on the south side and condenses fog. In Newfoundland it is the fight that fog is produced by the flow of a saturated current southward to waters, which often have ice floating in [illegible]. In none of these cases, however, doubt—can it be that the theories advanced have been [illegible] dated, and the subject offers an [illegible] for [illegible]. Boston Budget.

The Young King of Servia.

King Alexander of Servia, says a London Times writer, is not yet 13 years old, but he is precociously developed and looks as English boys do at 15 or 16. It seems but a short while ago that he was being photographed in a sailor's dress and knickerbockers, but now in his colonel's uniform, he stands as tall as the three Regents and has acquired a good deal of self possession. He has bright features, but not an intellectual face. His forehead is low, and little of it would be seen if he did not wear his hair cropped. He has large, soft eyes and a quick, pleasing smile, but a physiognomist would say that the mouth and nose showed indecision character.

As to her conversation—to people who like long rhapsodies, scarcely intelligible, the theme chosen by the speaker I dare say, was charming; for my own part I had the best [illegible] to be able to endure either [illegible] discourse. [illegible]

HISTORY OF THE GUILLOTINE.

The facts are these. He was a professor of [illegible] in Paris in the latter half of the [illegible] century. He was, with Benjamin Franklin and others, on the commission appointed to investigate the claims of Anton Mesmer, the founder of mesmerism, to be regarded as a scientific discoverer. His chief fame, however, rests on his proposal to the constituent assembly that capital punishment, which had been confined to nobles as less ignominious than hanging, should be adopted as the mode of punishment for all kinds of criminals.

This was both a humane and a logical measure, as he wished the act to be regulated by machinery, so that the action, being more certain, should involve less pain. Dr. Guillotin had no share in the making of the machine, which was not used in the spring of 1792. It was originally called the louison, but got its present name from a satirical song published in a royalist sheet. The Acts of the Apostles. So far from being his head by it, he died peacefully in his bed at 76. He was imprisoned during the Reign of Terror, but he had the rare fortune to regain his freedom and to resume practice in Paris, dying the year before the battle of Waterloo. He was enthusiastic about the instrument, and in replying to some objections urged against it one day in the [illegible] said, "It will lop off your head in the twinkling of an eye, and you will not [illegible] the least particle of pain." At this his hearers laughed, many of whom were soon destined to test the truth of his statement.

The guillotine does not seem in any way to be the sort of object to excite merriment. But for some time after it had been introduced in France, the Parisians amused themselves with it. It was engraved on seals, in miniature sets of it were made on chains and rings. At fashionable supper-tables toy guillotines of mahogany were put on the table, and tiny figures, with [illegible] persons, such as Lafayette, Condorcet, Philippe Egalité (whom the [illegible] changed to Égalité) were made to kiss the blood-red liquor, and when the knife fell, leaping like a jack-in-the-box. This kind of pastime, however, was not long in vogue. The guillotine was too horrible, and to furnish further diversion, even to the reckless Parisians, they then began to look at or think of it, except as the precursor of violent death.

It is not wholly a modern invention nor did it originate in France, similar instruments having been employed elsewhere in Europe centuries earlier. It was used in Germany and the [illegible] of the falling axe (halifaith) in 1565, but was [illegible] by the Scots; also in Italy as vasculini, these the [illegible] and in the Netherlands. The [illegible] was known in Scotland and Perth. Morton lost his head by it in 1581.

A German, Schmidt, built the first machine in Paris for 800 francs, the carpenter engaged for the work having demanded 5,000 francs, and eighty-three, one for each department of France, were ordered. It was first tried on three sheep at the Bicêtre hospital, and a few days later on Pelletier, a highwayman condemned to death. It consists of an oblique-edged, heavily weighted knife, sliding easily in grooves between two upright posts and descending on a block. On this the head of the sufferer rests, being fastened down by a [illegible] board, in which there is an aperture, half circle fitting to another half in a board, the neck occupying the space.

The head of the condemned person are [illegible] behind him; his legs are tied so that there can be no movement of the body. The knife is placed vertically on the knife, which falls by its own gravity, and severs the head from the trunk instantaneously. The Paris executioner during the Revolution was named Sanson, and the bidcons of the long family, descending from sire to son.

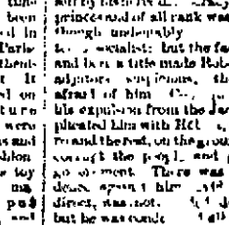
The guillotine, inasmuch as it severs the spinal cord, the connection of the [illegible] with the brain must, by destroying sensation at once, be also instantaneously painless. But Sir Benjamin Brodie, the distinguished physiologist, maintained within the [illegible] after its introduction, that it could not be painless on account of the swiftness of the operation. The subject has been debated from time to time ever since without causing, however, any serious doubt of the entire [illegible] of the guillotine.

SAD FATE OF THE DAUPHIN.

One of the saddest incidents of the Revolution was the imprisonment and death of the Dauphin, son of Louis XVI and titular king of France. Carefully educated under the direction of his father, he was, at the outset of the civil strife, when he was aged four, a [illegible] child, and lost, not a [illegible] for [illegible] and obscurity. In his eighth year [illegible] the Temple, where he was locked up. After the execution of his father, he was proclaimed his successor by the royalists, as Louis XVIII, and received [illegible] honors, [illegible] the full extent royal [illegible] in the south of France. These facts, added to attempts to rescue him from captivity, prompted the revolutionists, alarmed and angry at the position of affairs, to secure him more firmly.

The unfortunate boy was consequently imprisoned at night (July 3, 1793) from his mother's arms, and [illegible] with fright, to a distant part of the [illegible]. He was put in charge of a brutal and violent cobbler, who neglected and abused him most shamefully. He was left alone, day and night, in a dark room, cell without occupation or amusement. Liquor water and coarse food were given him only when convenient the treatment being so as to have the [illegible] of rapid physical and mental decay. Something he had said in regard to [illegible] having been twisted into a charge against his mother, Marie Antoinette, was devoted to him, the determined [illegible] Now for a long while [illegible] to be wasted, intimidated or beaten out of his determination. He would sit work after work, month after month, silent and alone in his chair, not even shrinking from the rats with which his cell swarmed.

At the [illegible] the Temple he was placed in [illegible] cruel hands, but he was still kept in [illegible]



PHILIPPE EGALITÉ.

[illegible] Jacobin [illegible] Pache, [illegible] Hébert, [illegible] Chaumette, [illegible] Simon, [illegible] Hébertists. [illegible] Hébert, [illegible] Vincent Ronsin, [illegible] Anacharsis Clootz and several of his associates were as sincere as any [illegible] if the means they respectively had the time [illegible] and welfare of the human race [illegible] if mankind could be made to [illegible] for [illegible], which it never could, this would indeed be a wonderful advance on what it has been thus far, whatever its forms of [illegible].

Chief among the proper pretensions were Jean Baptiste Cloots, Prussian baron, though educated in Paris, having ample means and the disposition to apply them to the development of his own political theories. Aiming to unite all nations in one common brotherhood, he travelled with this lofty view far and wide to spread his doctrines. He proclaimed himself the spokesman of the human family, and at the dawn of the Revolution returned to Paris to take part in it. No one was more devoted than he to the grand upheaval, he gave a considerable sum for the public defense, and spoke frequently and passionately against atheism and the church, which had been [illegible] in keeping the people in subjection. He urged that a price be set on the head of the Duke of Brunswick and the king of Prussia, and offered to raise at his own expense a glove of his countrymen in behalf of the republic.

Anacharsis Clootz, a French citizen, he was [illegible] member of the [illegible] convention by the department of Oise, and distinguished himself by his [illegible]. His desire to see princes and all rank was most intense, though unfeignedly [illegible]. He was an infidel, a socialist; but the fact that he was rich and born a little made Robespierre and his associates suspicious, they were afraid of him. Consequently, they [illegible] his expulsion from the Jacobin club, and implicated him with Hébert, Chaumette, Ronsin and the rest, on the ground of attempting to corrupt the people and get control of the government. There was not the least evidence against him, and direct or indirect, was not. [illegible] during the Terror but he was condemned all the [illegible].

On the scaffold he was [illegible] ascending the steps as he would have [illegible] to his bed chamber. He only [illegible] that he might in the loss of his [illegible] to die, but he wished to verify certain [illegible] he had formed [illegible] fall. He then [illegible] his head to the bystanders, [illegible] the brotherhood of man and [illegible] the majority. No man could have given out of life under [illegible] bravely. Among his curious writings were, "The Certainty of the Existence of Mahomet," "The Orator of the Human Race," and "The Universal Republic."

Hébert, who was one of the twenty-two impeached with Clootz, has [illegible] more than he was, as almost every revolutionist later has been. He was bitterly [illegible], full of fiery hate, but [illegible] to doubt that he was [illegible] in his [illegible]. The frantic extremists of whom he was one of the principals, got the name Hébertists—from him, and were also styled by the less radical, the Friends of Energy. He was not, as has been [illegible] of vile parentage, his father being a [illegible] and he himself having studied at the college of his native town, Alençon. Nor was he at any time engaged in swindling. From his boyhood he seems to have been a [illegible] lover of Jesus and to have shown marked [illegible]. The capture of the Bastille took him to Paris, where he began writing a philippic on the popular side. He quickly [illegible] a small newspaper, le Père Duchesne, of a violent, inflammatory kind, which got him an immense circulation among the lower classes.

After August, 1792, he was a very [illegible] and virulent member of the revolutionary [illegible]. The Girondists to whom he was [illegible] strongly hostile, having [illegible] he was [illegible] on account of the [illegible] of the [illegible] was [illegible] like so many actors in that fearful drama and became more popular than ever. During his trial, for which he was in no wise prepared, and which he saw would insure his death, his courage failed him. But he rallied when going to the scaffold, which he had helped instrumental in sending so many victims to, though the [illegible] who had blighted him, flouted him with characteristic fickleness and [illegible] in savage irony the [illegible] written in Le Père Duchesne. [illegible] Poetic justice was [illegible] to greatly [illegible] the leaders of [illegible].

Hébert was in person the [illegible] of what he would have been [illegible] had to be from his [illegible] Not ugly, [illegible] or [illegible] in expression, or [illegible] as Marat, he was on the contrary, [illegible] handsome, and his countenance full of [illegible] even of [illegible] when in repose. He was ordinarily very polite; and, having [illegible] elocutionist, he [illegible] a [illegible] chivalric [illegible] and [illegible] in his [illegible]. Married at [illegible] of his power, a former nun, Françoise Goupille of the Association of Saint Hélène, whom he called his Jacqueline. In leaving the convent she lost much of her faith in or [illegible] for Christianity and was a [illegible] to marry in another [illegible] the priesthood of the [illegible], to which she was [illegible] attached, strictly according to the Gospel. She was a [illegible] wife and shared her husband's fate, twenty days later.

Hébert [illegible] as his doctrines [illegible], an immoral man and [illegible] in his [illegible] paper. "The first principle of property," he said, "is existence." "Kings are the [illegible] of the [illegible]." "The law of monarchies is that the people shall go hungry in the midst of plenty and [illegible]." Authority is a [illegible] that can be battered down only by the [illegible] of the free." He found support for his views of the way in the Sabbatic times, and regarded Jesus as the first revolutionist, which in a broad sense he truly was.

WESTFIELD, R. I., August 14.—The wife and children of Treasurer Brown of the Revere Iron mills, Boston, have left for their home at Alston, Mass. It is understood that they have received word from Brown, who is in Canada, to save all they can of his property and meet him in France.

JACKSON'S OLD HOME.

THE HERMITAGE AND WHAT IS BEING DONE TO PRESERVE IT.

The Historic Old Home to Which "Old Hickory" Came With Always Be Attached—Its History and the Movement to Keep It in [illegible].

There was recently started in Tennessee a concert which has for its object the preservation of the "Hermitage," Gen. Jackson's old home. This movement is chiefly due to the efforts of the ladies of Tennessee, who have been for some time trying to carry it to a successful termination. A plan of action was at last adopted, and the Hermitage association was formed. This plan was given to the [illegible] and to [illegible] Washington's home at Mount Vernon. [illegible], the Mount Vernon plan which everybody knows was so successful, has served as a model. It is the intention to make the society national in character, and as it will take a great deal of money to carry out the project, it will be the society's endeavor to reach every admirer of Jackson.

Under the Mount Vernon plan $200,000 was raised to purchase the estate of Washington and set it apart for ever as a hallowed and sacred ground. Thirty-three years have passed since Mount Vernon became in this way the property, to all intents and purposes, of the whole American people, and the success which has attended that noble undertaking has probably had a great deal to do with "The Hermitage Association."

THE HERMITAGE.

Gen. Jackson moved from North Carolina to Tennessee in 1788, and in 1804 he built the hut where he lived so many years.

There is not in the whole country a log hut so rich in historical associations. It was the home of Jackson when he was an Indian fighter thrilled the young republic from one end to the other. It was here that Burr visited him in 1805 and unfolded his favorite project of an empire in Mexico. Jackson was living in this hut in 1812 when war was declared against England, and it was from this hut that he marched out with his brigade, many of 2,500 volunteers to sail down the Cumberland, the Ohio and the Mississippi to New Orleans. In this log cabin he received the news of the Fort Mimms massacre by the Creek Indians in August, 1813, and from it he took the field at the head of 5,000 men, [illegible] out by the governor of Tennessee. It was here that he received his [illegible] as major general in the regular army, and from it he again marched on the [illegible] which led him to Pensacola. He then went to Spanish Florida, [illegible] to New Orleans, and from the [illegible] and to it after the Florida purchase came his [illegible] as first governor of the new territory.

In 1818 Gen. Jackson built a home [illegible] on the site of which is the present one. This house was [illegible] by fire in 1834. In the year the present structure, which is an exact copy of the first one, was built. Mr. Parton, in his "Life of Jackson," thus refers to it:

"It is not a very [illegible] building, and very [illegible]. It is a long one-story [illegible] A two-story brick house with a [illegible] on each side, both in front and in the rear, the pillars painted and painted white, [illegible] by thick grassy plots of the [illegible] and [illegible]. The floors of the [illegible] are of [illegible] and each [illegible] in a [illegible] of the house.

"Just behind the [illegible] is a large garden with [illegible] paths and beds bordered with box. The rooms are lofty, [illegible] and [illegible] furnished. The parlors are hung with portraits of the [illegible] and his friends. [illegible] high, Gothic [illegible] and [illegible]. There is a bust of Mrs. Jackson in white [illegible], low neck and [illegible], forty and not fair. In the hall are [illegible] of Edward Livingston, Lewis Cass and Lord Wordsworth."

The New York World gives a [illegible] of the [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] building, and [illegible] the following:

"This is not the first [illegible] to save the [illegible], with all the [illegible] which [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible], riot and [illegible] that. In 1806 it was [illegible] by the legislature of Tennessee for $[illegible] from Andrew Jackson, Jr., on behalf of son of Gen. Jackson, and bonds, which are still part of the public debt, were [illegible] for the purpose. The property thus [illegible] included the [illegible] and 300 of the 1,000 [illegible] of Gen. Jackson died [illegible] 2 of in 1845. Mr. Jackson [illegible] the mile had [illegible] it was also [illegible] to [illegible] in the place for two years, until he could [illegible]. At the end of that period he moved to Lockington with part of his [illegible] and [illegible] leaving a few of the old [illegible] to [illegible] the place. Just before the [illegible] of the civil war he returned to the Hermitage at the [illegible] of Governor Harris, and [illegible] Shortly afterwards, while hunting in the Hermitage woods, he received a gunshot wound in the [illegible] and died in his [illegible] through lockjaw.

Mrs. Jackson [illegible] two years [illegible] and then it [illegible] that the [illegible] of the property. For two years the house and grounds have been [illegible] during in decay, until [illegible] spring, when the [illegible] of what [illegible] be done with the Hermitage [illegible] up for association. The [illegible] decided to [illegible] of the ladies of Nashville to form an association on the Mount Vernon [illegible] raise a fund to [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] as nearly as possible to their [illegible] Gen. Jackson died, and to [illegible] them as a memorial to the man who [illegible] admired and loved by so many of his countrymen.

A few [illegible] men of the state who were [illegible] on the subject were in favor of the association as a happy and patriotic solution of a problem which the authorities saw no chance of solving, and the ladies of the Mount Vernon association, who were written to, [illegible] out of the [illegible] of their project. Accordingly, [illegible] patriotic Nashville women took out a charter to [illegible] in a legal way their design. The project did not arouse much enthusiasm. A brief newspaper paragraph calling attention to it was, however, [illegible] the introduction of a bill in the legislature [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] of Congressman [illegible] for the Hermitage for a [illegible] of $[illegible] for [illegible] Cooper [illegible].

This idea and bill [illegible] very popular, [illegible] finally as it was so well known that Jackson, in his life, had done so much for the people, and the [illegible] to look upon their charter as so much [illegible] bill, however, give up and a [illegible] bill for the [illegible] tomb and 250 acres of the property. A large number of bills [illegible] to the support of the [illegible] their consideration. This was a fresh [illegible] and the disposition of the Hermitage was held in abeyance in the [illegible] to [illegible] the two years. A meeting of the [illegible] was held, and [illegible] oratory on both sides. This [illegible] was the life of the struggle. The [illegible] altered their petition to the [illegible] [illegible] the tomb and [illegible] Both bills were then [illegible].

Mrs. Donelson, secretary of the association, in [illegible] of the Hermitage at the [illegible] says:

"It is now in that state of [illegible] that [illegible] and [illegible] are [illegible] [illegible] will [illegible] in [illegible] years [illegible] other ruin. To [illegible] the house still presents the same [illegible] appearance of old, but the eaves, the roof, the foundation, the ceiling are all in need of renovation. Superintendent Frost expects to be able to make connection with the ten-inch main this morning. It is hoped to have the water flowing through it within the next few days. Since the contract was signed the work of laying the main has been pushed night and day.

It was announced for the Denver to carry that the fare for the round trip from this city to the Grand canon of the Arkansas would be $4.00 next Saturday. The fare will be $2.75 from this city, and $4.00 from Manitou. Arrangements have been made to let all passengers go through the state penitentiary and labor-yard buildings. Labor can be secured on the spot.

Mr. W. H. Hopper brought to this office yesterday a sample of oats grown by him on his ranch near Fountain, on what is called "Pole land" and without irrigating. The sample was four feet, six inches high and headed very finely. Mr. H. has eight acres in oats, of which this is a fair sample. This is only additional proof of what can be done in Colorado by simply turning on the water. Mr. H. expects the crops of wheat, potatoes and rye in his neighborhood to be fine as ever. He expects to see in any of the eastern states.

Mr. J. B. Polk, the popular comedian, in his great comedy, "Mixed Pickles," will be the attraction at the opera house Saturday evening. The New York Herald says: "Mr. Polk's great hit as George Washington Philips in 'The Banker's Daughter,' gave him an impetus at the time, but until now he has not found that stamp of popular encouragement which warranted him in seeking his future with the [illegible]. In 'Mixed Pickles' it would seem that he has found a vehicle. Certainly the [illegible] evening found the entertainment bright without vulgarity; full of 'go' without distasteful [illegible], and amusing to the degree of hearty laughing."

A crowd of perhaps two hundred persons gathered at the corner of Platte and Cascade avenues at 8 o'clock last night, to witness a foot race between two amateurs of the city. The runners were Percy Stockbridge and a young man named Riggs both about 19 years of age. Some two weeks ago Riggs ran with one of the base ball team, and easily defeated him, and he was the favorite with the crowd, odds being freely given of two to one. The hundred yards was laid off on Platte, between Cascade and Tejon. Young Stockbridge won by about four feet, amid considerable excitement. The time could not be taken on account of the darkness. Riggs' friends state that he lost the race on account of a dog that ran barking after the runners. It is estimated that upwards of $700 was lost on the race.
